A NEW YEAR

THE SUN rose this morning on the third day of a new year and we are reminded that time passes by with an inexorable pace, neither slowed nor quickened by any worldly event.

A day that slides into the past can never be recaptured, indeed, not a moment can be recalled.

Man has always known that time moves into the past at a steady pace and is constantly urged to make the best use of this stuff of which our very lives are made.

Fortunately man can always benefit from his past mistakes and they become errors only when he continues to repeat them. As we look over the past year, each person can recount mistakes, because few people are perfect.

Possibly the most serious mistake, made by most people are actions which are taken suddenly with little thought given . . . such as a quickly spoken word in anger, an act of desperation, a hand raised in passion, or a move made with no thought as to the consequences.

This is one mistake, which can be corrected, but only through thoughtful reasoning.

As this new year dawns, we can also come to grips with an age old problem . . . rationalization. This is the process whereby we are always right and the blame for anything and everything is conveniently placed on someone else's shoulders, society, luck, in fact, anything, but the real culprit, ourselves.

This is another mistake that we can correct if we will go through the painful process of knowing ourselves, facing the bitter truth, recognizing our own failings as well as our abilities, our capabilities, our intent, our motives, our goals.

Kidding one's self is an age old method of dodging responsibility.

Setting up a goal is one good resolution we might all adopt. The greatest waste of time by a human being, perhaps, is caused by indecision, procrastination, lack of direction and lack of goal. Sadder still, when these factors enter a person's life, he not only wastes time, but could care less.

The injection of a goal into a person's life renews the juices of motivation, initiative, desire and respect, and literally transforms him from a drone into a "live wire".

Although time passes with the surety of a metronome, fortunately there is time to change. However that time is now, immediately, because tomorrow may never come, regardless of whatever today we might be speaking of.

The fact that 1969 is a reality is a shaking event to some of the older citizens who well remember 1959, 1949, 1939, 1929, and on further back into an era which is "ancient history" to the teenager.

Progress by the individual can be made in 1969, but only if he recognizes that this progress is 99 per cent up to himself, and 1 per cent up to fate, luck, society, events, etc.

We direct this statement to everyone in general and especially to any minority group which might expect society or the government to lift him to the pinnacle.

Merit is the key word. We hope for all of our readers a good year in 1969. It will pass just as surely as all of those years before it have passed. What each person does with it is almost 100 per cent up to himself.

Quotes From The News

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

WASHINGTON — House Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., commenting on his victory over younger House Democrats who had sought to oust him from the speakership:

"Oh, yes, I'm 77 years old. But I'm still thinking years ahead. I'm younger in my thinking than some of these fellows who are thinking only about yesterday."

SAIGON — Phung Van Thuong, a defector from the Viet Cong, describing a prison camp from which Green Beret Maj. James Rowe escaped after five years: "I reckon it was the policy of the Viet Cong to kill the prisoners little by little by never attempting to solve the problems of food and medical shortages."

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Sister Cecilia, a Maryknoll nun, explaining why she was jailed for leading a Christmas protest demonstration at a retail store: "I was charged with disturbing the peace of the store. I say I was disturbing the mental peace of the community."

Paint the Town

NEW YORK (UPI) — Youngsters attending a poor children's Creative Arts Academy in New York did their bit to brighten New York.

What they did could have been considered vandalism had they not sought and gained official permission. They painted a couple of fire hydrants in random phycchedelic patterns, using brilliant paints.

"We are going to brighten New York," said one of the participating artists, age 13.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

If Your Property Is Condemned

If the government wants your property for some public use, the government may take it. But when that happens, you are entitled—under the Constitution—to "just compensation" for the loss.

Unhappily, your notion of "just" and the government's notion of "just" might be very different. When citizen and government can't get together on the price, what rules prevail?

Almost always, the test applied by the law is "fair market value"—that is, the price your property would bring in a normal sale by a willing seller to a willing buyer. This leaves out elements of value that are strictly personal to you.

Take this case:

A home owner claimed several thousand dollars for some shade trees, located on a strip of his land condemned for a highway. Although the trees added little to the market value of the property, the man pointed out that he had given them tender loving care for more than 20 years.

But the court denied compensation for this special value, saying:

"The law simply does not allow compensation for such personal feelings."

Nor can you collect for future values that can be seen only through rose-colored glasses. In one case the owner of raw acreage tried to show the court how valuable his land could be, some distant day, if it was subdivided and sold for home sites.

However, the court would not listen. As one judge put it: "To permit such evidence would convert an eminent domain proceeding into a guessing contest."

On the other hand, you are entitled to be paid for possibilities that are realistic—even if you yourself have not yet tried to realize those possibilities.

Thus, a man owning land on a business street won compensation for its income potential, even though he himself had only a house on it. The court said the income potential was real enough so that a buyer would consider that element in making an offer.

In short, the law seeks a fair balance between the government, hoping to cut expenses, and the property owner, hoping to hit the jackpot. In the words of the United States Supreme Court:

"Compensation shall be just, not merely to the individual whose property is taken but to the public which is to pay for it."

Resolve To Protect Your Heart During Next Year

Making and keeping New Year's Resolutions is good for the heart as well as the soul, especially if a person has a heart condition.

It could well mean his or her survival for an additional year, with a chance to renew those Resolutions when another January rolls around.

Here are some that would be helpful to the heart patient, especially one with high blood pressure, according to the Kentucky Heart Association:

1. "I will see my doctor regularly, and faithfully follow his instructions."

2. "I will try not to worry, because I realize that worry, because I realize that worry, nervous tension, and emotional stress all help to raise my blood pressure higher than it should be."

3. "I will make every effort to rest and relax from time to time, before I get too tired."

4. "I will get plenty of sleep. If possible, I will take a short nap or maybe two during the day."

5. "I will engage only in mild exercise, and not in competitive sports where it would be hard to stop if I became tired."

6. "I will keep my weight normal, since overweight puts an extra burden on my heart."

Of the 10,000,000 Americans with some sort of heart or blood vessel disease, about half suffer from high blood pressure, which is known as "hypertension" in medical circles.

The simple directions contained in the six Resolutions stated above are the result of finds made by the several thousands of dedicated men and women in the research field who are constantly searching for the secrets of heart disease, so that it may eventually be controlled and conquered.

Support for their work, in medical centers in Kentucky and through the nation, comes in large part from the great mass of Americans who contribute to the Heart Fund. With their generous help, much of the progress made in recent years would not have come about.

In this state alone, at centers in Lexington and Louisville, more than a dozen dedicated medical scientists are devoting their time, their energies and their very lives to this work because their fellow Kentuckians have recognized heart and blood vessel diseases as "our nation's number one killer and crippler" and have decided to do something constructive about it.

SEC Did Not Make Friends With Bowl Games This Year

By O'NEIL HENDRICK

ATLANTA UPI - The Southeastern Conference was hung over yesterday from a clear case of holiday overindulgence in bowl games.

The football - proud SEC sent six of its 10 members to post-season games. Three of them were outclassed and, worst of all, they were the SEC's top teams, including its champion, playing in prestige bowls on national television.

SEC titlist Georgia 8-0-2 was humiliated by Arkansas 16-2 in the Sugar Bowl, runner-up Tennessee 8-1-1 was trounced by Texas 36-13 in the Cotton Bowl and Alabama 8-2-0 was slaughtered by Missouri 35-10 in the Gator Bowl.

Some Pride Salvaged

The conference had to call upon its middle and bottom row

Bradley Tops North Dakota

L. C. Bowen scored 35 points in Bradley's seventh triumph in 11 starts, a 109-77 verdict over North Dakota.

Tulsa posted the big upset of the night when the Golden Hurricane topped ninth-ranked Cincinnati 57-50 in another Missouri Valley Conference game.

Walter Robertson pumped in 32 points to pace Loyola III, over Western Michigan 83-68 for the Ramblers' sixth victory in 10 decisions.

Notre Dame wasn't scheduled to play Thursday night but the Irish suffered a loss anyway when Austin Carr, their leading scorer with a 23-point per game average, broke a bone in the left foot during a practice session. He will be lost to the team for six weeks.

In other games, the Citadel edged Clemson 84-57, Providence topped California Irvine 85-77, McMurray got by Texas Tech 82-80, Drake beat Memphis State 83-81, Seattle defeated Arizona State 96-81 and 12th-ranked New Mexico got by stubborn Denver 68-64.

Pistol Pete Cunning For Scoring Lead

NEW YORK UPI - Pistol Pete, Maravich of Louisiana State, is threatening to run away with the major college basketball scoring championship for the second year in a row.

Maravich, known as "Pistol Pete," had 322 points through seven games for a 46.0 point-per-game average, far ahead of the next best average—the 38 points per contest by Niagara's all-American Calvin Murphy.

In only one of the seven games did he dip below 40 points. That came with a 38-point night during LSU's 86-85 victory over Clemson. His high of 55 points came in the Tigers' only loss of the season, 101-99, in double overtime, to Tulane.

Spencer Haywood, the Olympic basketballer now playing for Detroit, leads the major colleges in rebounds with an average of 23.8 per game. Al Kuroh of the Citadel has a field goal percentage of .684 to lead that category.

Haywood and Georgia's Bob Lienhard are the only two players in the top 10 in scoring, field goal percentage and rebounding. Haywood is the No. 3 scorer with a 31.1 average and is No. 9 in field goal accuracy, having hit on 61.9 per cent of his efforts.

Lienhard is seventh in scoring, 28.8, third in field goal percentage, .680 and third in rebounding, 20.8.

Dan Davis of Northwestern, with 25 of 25 free throws, is the nation's leader in free shot percentage.

Kentucky Loses Sophomore Guard

LEXINGTON, Ky. UPI - The University of Kentucky basketball team, fourth-ranked nationally, lost a potential All-American Thursday when it was announced sophomore guard Greg Starrick had quit the team.

Wildcat coach Adolph Rupp made the announcement after meeting with the former high school All-American from Marion, Ill. Rupp said Starrick felt he hadn't been playing enough and wanted to go somewhere else before the next semester began.

Starrick's father, Wendell, said at Marion his son told him "he would rather play ball at a smaller school than ride the bench for Adolph Rupp."

Starrick, who scored a career total of 1,975 points in scholastic basketball, was one of the nation's most sought after prep stars two years ago.

He averaged 20.7 points a game as a freshman and this season had scored 37 points in 77 minutes of action.

Louisville Wins Ninth

By United Press International

Undeclared Louisville streaked past Wichita State 75-58 Thursday night for the Cardinals' ninth straight victory and third in the Missouri Valley Conference.

The rest of Kentucky's college cage squads were idle, but three see action tonight. Transylvania travels to the Sun Coast Classic, Georgetown enters the Mercer Tournament and Thomas More visits Marian of Indiana.

Louisville's Cliff Beard led all scorers with 20 points as the 18th ranked Cardinals tormented Wichita State's zone press in the second half.

Ron Washington topped the Whateashockers with 15 points while Ron Mendell tossed in 14 for Wichita, which lost its ninth game in 12 starts and is winless in three MVC games.

Jerry King helped Louisville scoring with 13 points and snared 12 rebounds. Center Mike Grose, clipped in 11 points and snatched seven rebounds.

The Cardinals moved to a narrow 29-28, halftime lead, with Beard nothing 14 of his total. Wichita had jumped to an early lead, but Louisville tied it up three times and the lead feathered eight times until King put the Cards out front for good, with 5:30 left in the stanza.

Vol. Horns Get Over $300,000

DALLAS UPI - Texas and Tennessee will get a possible record payoff of between $305,000 and $315,000 each from the Cotton Bowl game, a bowl spokesman estimated today.

It will be several weeks before a final accounting can be made, said executive secretary Howard Grubbs, but preliminary figures indicate more than $600,000 will be available.

Texas will keep $100,000 of its share, but the remainder over to the Southwest Conference and then get one-eighth of that coverage as it is split among all league schools. Texas also will get a one-eighth share of the coverage paid to the conference by Southern Methodist and Arkansas from their portions of the Bluebonnet and Sugar Bowl receipts.

RECALL WATSON

DETROIT UPI - The Detroit Red Wings recalled defenseman Jim Watson from the Baltimore Clippers of the American Hockey League Thursday to replace injured right winger Bruce MacGregor. MacGregor has been sidelined with the flu.

STEINECKE QUILTS

ATLANTA UPI - Bill Steinecke, general manager of the Atlanta Braves farm club in the Texas League, resigned unexpectedly Thursday. Braves pitcher Cecil Upshaw will temporarily handle the club.

Reeves Wants Allen Back As Rams Coach

LOS ANGELES UPI - It seems like everybody except the coach's wife was unavailable for comment and she doesn't want the coach to coach anymore.

That's about the way things stood today in pro football's most burning question of the New Year: Will George Allen return as head coach of Los Angeles Rams next season?

Ram owner Dan Reeves fired Allen last week because of "a personality clash" but has now changed his mind and wants Allen back, according to Mrs. Allen and others.

Allen's wife, Eddy, talked in an interview with a Chicago radio station Thursday and said Reeves wanted to rehire her husband; her husband was undecided about going back to the Rams; and she, Mrs. Allen, wants him to stay out of coaching.

Reeves issued a statement like "no comment" through the Rams publicity staff.

Allen did not answer her telephone after she talked on the air.

Reeves apparently bowed to the pressure of irate fans and many of his players in making an attempt to reconcile with Allen.

Allen and the Rams finished second to Baltimore in the Coastal Division of the National Football League with a 10-3-1 record for 1968.

Allen has often said coaching takes him away from his family. He said he works a 16 to 18 hour day. When he's home, he's looking at game movies most of the time. He does not eat at the family training table but prefers milk shakes which soothe his stomach ulcer.

Mrs. Allen and the four Allen kids - George, 16; Gregory, 14; Gerald, 9 and Jennifer, 7 - dine alone in football season. They all want to stay permanently in their new home in the suburban Palos Verdes peninsula overlooking the Pacific.

Money is no problem for a few years anyway. Reeves has said he will pay off Allen of the two remaining years of his contract, at about $50,000 a year.

American Bowl All-Star Game Is Set For This Saturday

By DAVID M. MOFFIT
UPI Sports Writer

TAMPA Fla. UPI - The North, with one of its two quarterbacks sitting and the other having only two days to get ready, was made a six-point underdog today for Saturday's first American Bowl All-Star football game.

Cincinnati's Greg Cook, the nation's college offense leader for the 1968 season, became a doubtful participant Thursday when he developed a sore arm and Kansas' Bob Douglass did not arrive on the scene until Thursday morning, having played in the Orange Bowl game Wednesday night.

However, Douglass looked sharp in Thursday's workouts here and North coach Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue was hopeful Cook's arm would come around by Saturday's 1 p. m. EST kickoff.

"I certainly hope Cook can throw," Mollenkopf said, somewhat wistfully. "He's considered one of the top pro prospects in the business. If he can't, we can only hope that Douglass can get ready in the short time he has."

The South quarterbacks—Edd Hargett of Texas A&M and Loren Carter of Auburn—have been working out since Monday and South Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant expressed pleasure over the way they have been throwing to the speedy corps of Rebel receivers.

Unlike most All-Star games, Mollenkopf and Bryant have agreed to let their defenses "blitz."

"We're going to bump heads out there Saturday," Bryant said. "None of that take-it-easy-on-the-passers stuff for us."

Cook, if he can play, will take the most impressive credentials into the game. The Cincinnati quarterback completed 219 passes for 3,272 yards and 25 touchdowns during the regular season. Douglass threw for 1,811 yards and 24 touchdowns; Hargett or 2,321 yards and 16 touchdowns; and Carter for 1,400 yards and 14 touchdowns.

The South also appears to have the edge in both runners and receivers thanks to the presence of Gene "Mercury" Morris of West Texas State, Dicky Lyons of Kentucky, Larry Smith of Florida, Jerry Levas of SMU and John Sias of Georgia Tech.

The North's two top-rated runners are Notre Dame scoring leader Bob Gladieux and Perry Williams who made all-Big Ten at Purdue. Top receivers for the North are all-American tight end Ted Kwalick of Penn State and all-Big Eight flanker Eddie Hinton of Oklahoma.

Paper-signing Wife Should See Lawyer

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Before I married my husband he asked me to sign some papers saying I was not to share in any of his worldly possessions during his lifetime, and would not be entitled to anything should he die. He signed the major part of this property and assets over to a lady friend.

In his defense, I should mention that he has never been married before, and he is my third husband, so maybe he is just playing it safe. I married the first time at 15, and that didn't work out. My second husband was an alcoholic, and that ended in divorce, too. Do you think he really loves me, or is he taking me for a fool?

DEAR WONDERING: Regardless of what you signed, see your own lawyer and find out how binding it is. A man who would ask his wife to disclaim all his worldly possessions during his lifetime, and would leave her unprotected for should he precede her in death, doesn't sound like much of a bargain to me, especially after having signed over the lion's share of his assets to a "lady friend." (P.S. If you ever find out why this man felt he needed a wife, let me know.)

DEAR ABBY: The following is from a letter I recently received from an out-of-state relative: "Let's make a deal. Next year instead of sending each other Christmas presents, send me a check, and I will do the same for you. It will save us both a lot of trouble."

Abby, I never considered shopping for Christmas presents "a lot of trouble." Besides, what's the sense of my sending her a check for $25, and her sending me the same? How do you feel about it? I should add, this relative sends more money like I need another belly button. BEWILDERED IN BOSTON

DEAR BEWILDERED: I agree with you, Tell her to just blow you a kiss at Christmas, and you'll do the same for her.

DEAR ABBY: I really dig this guy I'll call Phil. My father checked up on him and now he won't let me go out with him any more. Phil is a musician. He plays the drums. My father says that a drummer is no musician—that a person who plays the violin or piano can call himself a musician, but a drum is no instrument. Is that right?

Also, my father found out that Phil is 32, not 26, like he said he was.

So I have two questions to ask: (1) Is a drummer a musician? (2) As long as a guy is a gentleman, don't you think I should be allowed to go out with him? I am 19, but I am very mature for my age. Thank you.

DEAR DIGS: Yes, a drummer is indeed a musician, but what's all this jazz about his lying about his age? Sorry, but I agree with your father. A 22-year-old drummer should beat it if he can't play it straight with a 19-year-old girl.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—When you chew an apple or carrot the pressure generated by the movement of your jaw can be as much as 300 pounds. Even a normal swallow can exert 100 pounds of stress in the mouth.

These were the findings of a study conducted on 84 subjects in an attempt to record the amount of intermaxillary stress exerted during the process of a forceful bite.

A report on the study was presented at the annual meeting of the American Dental Association (ADA) here. Dr. John C. Bartels, of Portland, Ore., did the reporting.

Bible Thought for Today

Turn away mine eyes from beholding vanity, and quicken thou me in thy way. — Psalm 119:37.

We often find ourselves turning aside from the Lord's way and delighting ourselves in vanity.

WASHINGTON UP — It is time someone explained why long sideburns have become fashionable again. I shall endeavor to perform this service.

To understand the sideburn fad we must recognize that growing hair on the face is the only thing man can do that women can't.

Women, by contrast, can do a whole host of things man can't. Don't ask questions about this; just take my word for it.

When man became aware of his comparative limitations, he felt inferior. His first attempts to remove the hair from his face reflected a subconscious desire to make himself more like woman.

Later on, man realized that shaving was getting him nowhere. But by that time he was under the influence of shaving cream commercials. So he continued to scrape off the stubble.

Then came the revolt against shaving cream commercials by beards, hippies and other protest groups. Beards began to appear in substantial numbers, and with them came a reawakening of interest in man's only natural prerogative.

Clean-shaven squares everywhere secretly longed to let their whiskers grow, too. And some did. But m. s. lacked the courage to reclaim this symbol of masculine superiority.

Explanation Of Sideburns; The Women Can't Grow 'Em

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON UP — It is time someone explained why long sideburns have become fashionable again. I shall endeavor to perform this service.

To understand the sideburn fad we must recognize that growing hair on the face is the only thing man can do that women can't.

Women, by contrast, can do a whole host of things man can't. Don't ask questions about this; just take my word for it.

When man became aware of his comparative limitations, he felt inferior. His first attempts to remove the hair from his face reflected a subconscious desire to make himself more like woman.

Later on, man realized that shaving was getting him nowhere. But by that time he was under the influence of shaving cream commercials. So he continued to scrape off the stubble.

Then came the revolt against shaving cream commercials by beards, hippies and other protest groups. Beards began to appear in substantial numbers, and with them came a reawakening of interest in man's only natural prerogative.

Clean-shaven squares everywhere secretly longed to let their whiskers grow, too. And some did. But m. s. lacked the courage to reclaim this symbol of masculine superiority.

Bears, as you know, do not sprout full blown. They emerge in elegant languor. Five o'clock shadows gradually deepen into prickly eyesores. The entire face becomes a stum area.

Seven Of State Parks In Action

FRANKFORT—Seven of Kentucky's 12 State resort parks "swing" the year around.

What they have to offer in the way of recreation, entertainment, good-living and general comfort during the winter and early spring will be shown and told in two Jim Lucas shows over Channel 3 - WAVE-TV at 6:30 p.m. (EST) Jan. 4 and Mar. 1.

Both shows, taped in full color at one of the parks, will feature interviews with State Parks Commissioner Robert E. Gable and music by "The Carousels," a choral group from Louisville.

While golf, fishing and other outside activities are available at some of the parks when the weather is right, the emphasis is on inside recreation during the winter and early spring.

One of the scenes to be shown in the Lucas presentation portrays a group of happy people seated around a big open fire in the lobby of one of the fine, modern lodges boasting marshmallows.

Each of the parks employs a recreation specialist who arranges activities for the entertainment of guests. These include, games, square-dancing, group singing, motion pictures, color slides, nature programs—something for everyone.

Wanted, By All of Us: Clean Air!

By JAMES N. MILLER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Pollution among the kind that killed 3,500 London residents in 1952, is being studied here in a new kind of laboratory study by four Purdue University health scientists, aided by white rats, hamsters and other test animals.

Team members, working under Prof. John E. Christian, director of the university's new environmental health institute, are: Profs. Gordon Born and Stanley M. Shaw, and Keith Morgan, candidate for a doctorate degree.

Their objective is to determine, through a series of tests on the laboratory animals, the exact effects on nasal passages, lungs and other vital organs of the fumes from automotive gases, toxic nickel and lead compounds, and dozens of oxides and chemicals used in manufacturing processes.

ALREADY Prof. Christian has reached this conclusion, although his research is in an early stage: "Air pollutants, especially sulfur oxide, thrown off by soft coal in the manufacture of electricity, are major factors in the nation's increased death rate."

Lung cancer is twice as prevalent in the large cities as in the rural areas. The factor of polluted air also shows up in statistics of city versus country dwelling. A city dweller's life span is shortened by five years by smog.

Christian elaborates: "There is little question but the long-term, low-level effects of breathing contaminated air are seriously implicated in emphysema, asthma, lung cancer, cardiac diseases, and other ailments. Our problem is to prove these effects and understand the mechanisms involved."

FIRST STEP in solving the problem is to determine the effects of inhaled air pollutants in the animal body and to follow this up by basic studies of possible, corrective measures.

ONE of Purdue's major projects is a study of the metabolism of inhaled sulfur dioxide in the rat. Two groups of laboratory rats, five in each group, are exposed for 30 minutes to an atmosphere of 90 particles per million of radioactively labeled sulfur dioxide gas in a specially constructed environmental chamber.

Later the animals are studied to see the effects on their lungs, kidneys, spleen and liver. Tests made thus far indicate a prolonged residue effect. Significantly greater quantities remain in the kidney and liver than in any other body tissues.

CLEAN AIR scientists agree that the most obvious component of polluted air is the smoke which pours from home chimneys, smokestacks, incinerators and dumps. Tiny pieces of carbon, ash, oil, grease, and metal and metal oxide particles are thrown into the air. All this accounts for only 10 per cent of the pollution, however.

A full 90 per cent consists of largely invisible but potentially deadly gases. In some areas about a tenth of all air pollution is composed of hydrocarbons, most of them emanating as unburned or partially burned gaseous compounds from automobile fuel systems.

Los Angeles smog contains large amounts of sulfur oxides that react with moisture to produce a corrosive sulfuric acid mist. Extreme exposure can do irreparable damage to the lungs and teeth enamel.

AFTER THE PARTY IS OVER

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persist and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Have you ever felt like this little girl after a big, exciting day at the Fair, or a party? You know how you feel — excited, exhausted; but you feel good, too. Sometimes you just want to lie down and think about it. But like the little one in this picture you, also, are too tired to remove your party hat or your shoes.

Sometimes it is delightful just to lie down and think of something good and wonderful and happy. It is good just to be still and sort of day-dream about what has happened.

There are other times in our lives when we need to achieve a sense of quietness and think of God. The Psalmist says, "Commune with your own heart upon your bed and be still." Psalm 4:4. God says in Psalms 46:10 "Be still and know that I am God."

We invite you to attend church and sense the still, quiet holiness that is God's presence in the midst of the congregation.

SEEN &amp; HEARD

about cutting your toe nails too.

When you have finished you can look at your work of art with great satisfaction and receive that deep inner feeling of a job well done.

You might start off, for instance, cutting them straight across, then if the urge strikes you, you can round them off. The possibilities are almost endless.

There are other benefits also. You get some exercise comparable to Yoga. If you are working on the little toe nail for instance, you either have to stick your foot over to one side, or sit cross legged and turn your foot upside down.

In either case, you have stretched the back muscles, helped to harden the stomach muscles, and given various and sundry exercises to the legs, arms and neck.

These exercises are even more complicated if you happen to wear bifocals. In this event, you have to bring your foot into the proper focus, either by pushing it far enough away to see the toe nail through the upper part of the glasses, which is usually too far, or you crane your neck forward with the chin up in the air and bring the foot toward you. This way you can see through the bottom of your glasses.

In toe nail cutting you can let your individualism show through with flying colors. You can be yourself.

There is only one drawback, however, and that is having to make all those decisions. You have to decide if you have trimmed them enough or if you should take one more whack.

Past experience has shown us that taking that last whack is usually one whack too much.

However, here we are giving suggestions and that of itself is an invasion on privacy. Each person must make that decision for himself. After all, if there is anything that belongs to a person, it is his own toe nails.

We would suggest that everyone enjoy this past time to the utmost while it is still unregulated.

Any day now, we expect some kind of mandatory order from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare styled something like the following manner: "Mandatory Order: The cutting of toe nails by the individual has been deemed unlawful by this department, therefore as of January 1, 1968, no toe nails may be cut, trimmed, or otherwise shortened by any person other than a legally qualified toe nail cutter. If none is available in your area the individual may alleviate the situation by removing the end of the shoe to allow toe nails to protrude. Any person desiring to become qualified in this art may apply to their nearest Job Corps. No discrimination is permitted as to race, creed or color, however applicant may not earn more than $4,000 a year, must have at least six children, must not live in a house worth over $10,000, may not have more than two automobiles, must have absolutely no education, must enjoy watching 'As the World Turns' weigh between 150 and 175, and enjoy jogging. Make your application today."

Ready For Test Of Apollo 9

By AL ROSSITER Jr.

UPI Space Writer

CAPS KENNEDY (UPI)

The Apollo 9 space machine rode a mammoth tractor to its launch pad today to start final testing for the crucial Feb. 28 earth orbital test of the ship built to land men on the moon.

The three-man moonship and its Saturn 5 rocket will use the oceanic launch site that Apollo 8 left in a sea of flame when it took off for the moon with three astronauts two weeks ago.

The 26-story rocket left its towering assembly building shortly before dawn on the back of an eight-tread, turtle-like crawler and was expected to reach the launch pad 3 1/2 miles away in the afternoon.

Apollo 9 astronauts James McDivitt, David Scott and Russell Schweickart were in Houston today for a first-hand report from Apollo 8 moonfliers Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anders on their historic lunar orbit mission.

From the outside, the 383-foot Apollo 9 spacecraft-rocket combination looks the same as Apollo 8 did when it left earth.

But hidden inside a tall, tapered shell is a four-legged spacecraft designed to ferry two men to a landing on the moon.

The object of the 10-day Apollo 9 mission is to give the landing craft, called a lunar module, a thorough space workout with men aboard for the first time. The craft has flown unmanned once.

McDivitt, Scott and Schweickart will ride a command ship identical to Apollo 8 with a low orbit around earth. Then the astronauts will turn their craft around and hook up nose to nose with the bug-like landing craft carried aloft beneath them in the casing above the rocket's third stage.

MINERAL

"Use of this report in conjunction with the new geologic maps should aid in the development of Calloway County's mineral resources and economy," Dr. Hagan added.

In addition to a descriptive text, the report includes a group of colored maps depicting the distribution of the principal mineral resources and a series of tables presenting the results of chemical tests of clay and limestone deposits.

"Ground water also is an important natural resource of the county," McGrain said. The report points out that a series of ground-water maps, previously published for the county, indicates water supplies are available for domestic, industrial, and municipal uses.

Copies of the report, at $2.50 each, may be purchased from the Kentucky Geological Survey, Mineral Industries Building, University of Kentucky, Lexington.

77 YEAR OLD

long enough to impart some elemental advice apparently aimed at the impatient junior Democrats who wanted to bench him.

"If a young man has got 'it' he'll make it in the House," McCormack said. "Three months after I was elected I gave a 45-minute speech on the floor."

"I thought I had something to learn," he said, "and I devoted myself to a study of the house rules."

The Thursday victory was especially sweet for McCormack because for the first time since inheriting the speakership from Sam Rayburn he was able to test his leadership and what had seemed to be a rising tide of complaints that he was too old, too feeble, and too outstaged to lead the frequently tempestuous House.

Discussing the contest, McCormack said: "Oh, it was a good thing it happened. And it was not a personal thing."

That's what Udall, the loser, said too.

"John McCormack is not a vindictive man," he said. Udall jokingly recalled that one speaker long ago punished an errant member by denoting him from Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee to junior member of the Committee on Capitol Acoustics and Ventilation.

Udall said he was pretty sure the speaker wasn't thinking of anything like that for him.

Obviously disappointed that he had gotten the votes of so few of the 243 House Democrats, the tall and athletic brother of the outgoing Interior Secretary, Stewart Udall, said all had not been lost.

He noted that the Democrats had made a basic change in their own party operation by deciding to have a caucus every month, instead of just once a session. And he noted that committee assignments for rank and file members — once the province of the speaker and an elite group of leaders — now would be subject to caucus examination.
